Thinking Outside of the Test Kit:
The Changing Role of the School Psychologist

ABOUT DASP:

The Delaware Association of School Psychologists is a professional organization that promotes the rights, welfare, education, and mental health of children and youth. DASP offers full membership to certified school psychologists who work in public schools, public and private agencies, and institutions of higher education. For over 35 years, DASP has supported the work of school psychologists in Delaware through educational projects, legislative initiatives, and communication networks that bring together members from Kent, New Castle, and Sussex Counties. The association newsletter (DASP-R), the website (www.dasponline.org), the listserv (DASPLink), year-round workshops, and an annual conference represent DASP's efforts to disseminate information and to enhance collaboration among members.

DASP is approved by the National Association of School Psychologists as a provider of continuing education for school psychologists. DASP maintains responsibility for this program.
